Lauren,

I hope this correspondence finds you well. I am contacting really for two separate reasons.

Reason#1: We have an herbal supplement company called GnuPharma. We work with plant based flavonoids and are able to nutritionally target these flavonoids for effects. We have patents around this science and are currently working with the University of Mississippi. In fact, we are in the grant process with them now for an NIH grant which will further our theories and science. Further, we are also finding that we can move the needle between what is "nutrition" and what is "medicine". These supplements would work hand in glove with chiropractic care. We are already distributing to one model which is focused on chiro's,

Reason#2: I am one of the founders, and currently lead an organization called Oklahomans for Health. We are the organization that petitioned for medical cannabis in 2014, and also in 2016. In 2016 we won the ballot and we will be voting on SQ788 next November. I would love the opportunity to come and present to your board, or any other appropriate venue, about our proposed law and answer any questions concerning medical cannabis. Not many are very educated here, and I am certainly an expert on the system medical cannabis effects, something called your endocannabinoid system=ECS. In fact I just lectured to a graduate class at the University of Mississippi on the ECS. Anyway, what we will be doing in 2018 is educational out reach..what a doc can expect, what kind of questions will they get, how does the law work. And certainly the way the law is written, chiro's will be able to prescribe/write for medical cannabis.

Thanks,

Chip

I don't know how to respond to this. This will take some time for me to go through meetings for the past 2 years and listen to meetings to see if any discussion took place on Cannabinoid products. I need to discuss this with you ASAP perhaps after our meeting you call me back so I can make sure that I comply accordingly.

Respectfully,

Subject: CBD oil

I am also curious about the use of CBD oil in Chiropractic offices. We need to know if CBD is classified as a schedule drug, and, if it falls under our current scope.

Let me know how the teleconference goes. I think we also need to address CBD oil use by DC's. I'm thinking it's classified as a drug and out of our scope

Will do! On that note CBD oil also has a huge Multi level marketing group out there... Shawn and I discussed this because Dr French is doing the MLM. It has to have more than .4% I think before it's considered a drug that is why pretty much anyone can have a CBD oil store. However, I will discuss with Grant. Do you want it on the agenda.

That sounds good, yes we need it on the agenda. Discuss with Grant to see what the Oklahoma law says.

Will do

Thanks

You're welcome!
